Dear Doctor Lederburg:

Under separate cover I am mailing you 114 coliform cultures as promised by Dr. Starr. As you probably know these were isolated from the feces of turkey poults, some of which had been fed antibiotics. The complete origin history is available in our records if this is of interest or importance to you. I have indicated on each culture its level of resistance to streptomycin.

The purity of these cultures has not been checked for several months, but I trust that you will find them satisfactory.

Very truly yours,
